Eugene Field's

Views on Ambition and Dyspepsia.

"Dyspepsia," wrote Eugene Field, "often incapacitates a man for endeavor and sometimes extinguishes the fire of ambition." Though great despite his complaint Field suffered from indigestion all his life. A week, tired stomach can't digest your food. It needs rest. You can only rest it by the use of a preparation like Ecodol, which relieves it of work by digesting your food.
Rest soon restores it to its normal tone.

WEAR TINTED DRESS SUITS.

Brave Young Men of London in Coats of Blue, Green and Crimson.

Several courageous society men in London are endeavoring to introduce the fashion of wearing colored evening dress suits in order to relieve the somber appearance of ballrooms where men wear the conventional black.

A number of men have recently appeared at dances wearing plum-colored coats, while others wore bright blue, green and crimson coats.

There is little likelihood that the fashion will be adopted, the modesty of the average man forbidding his wearing rainbow-hued clothing.

While fashionable men, however, taboo colored dress coats, they are now wearing gorgeous waistcoats, glaring reds and blues and greens relieving the somber coats and trousers.—New York Journal.

Ariel Toucan.

There are lots of birds with Roman profiles, but in a beauty contest of "crooked beaks" the ariel toucan of Mexico would carry off the worm.
They are beautifully colored in red, yellow, black and white in contrasting colors.

Kept Model Country Inn.
Mrs. Mary Lee, who recently died at White Waltham, England, was the oldest public-house landlady in the country, for she was 90 years of age.
The Bee Hive, which she had superintended for more than half a century, was believed to be the best-conducted house in England, for no complaint was ever made against it. Over the fireplace in the barroom stands the notice: "No swearing or foul language permitted in this room or in-decous songs allowed to be sung. Anyone infringing the above will be expelled." And often the picturesque old lady, with her cheerful unwrinkled face, would walk into the room on Sunday evenings, bearing her old Bible, and read the Scriptures to an audience that listened with respect to her explanations and comments.

A Contemptible Marquis.
The marquis of Bute, one of the few unmarried Englishmen with splendid titles, is reported to be planning a trip to this country. His lordship is only 22 years old, and he has never publicly declared that he has no intention of marrying. But unfortunately the marquis has no castles that need roofing or in which the plumbing requires repairs. His vast estates are free from mortgages and he doesn't find it necessary to hide from his tailors. In fact he owns great estates in England, Scotland and Wales, is estimated to be worth $75,000,000, and is coming over here, not in search of a beautiful heiress, but for the purpose of shooting big game in the Rocky mountains. Of what use is such a miserable marquis in this world, anyway?—Chicago Record-Herald.

"Eve's Apple Tree."
A fruit supposed to bear the mark of Eve's teeth is one of the many botanical curiosities of Ceylon. The tree on which it grows is known by the significant name of "the forbidden fruit," or "Eve's apple tree." The blossom has a very pleasant scent, but the really remarkable feature of the tree, the one to which it owes its name, is the fruit. It is beautiful, and hangs from the tree in a peculiar manner. Orange on the outside and deep crimson within, each fruit has the appearance of having had a piece bitten out of it. This fact, together with its poisonous quality, led the Mahome-tans to represent it as the forbidden fruit of the Garden of Eden, and to warn men against its noxious properties.

Nothing has ever equalled it.
Nothing can ever surpass it.

The Old Venetian Idea is Adopted by Collier's Weekly is conducting a very novel and interesting competition for its readers each month. To enter the competition all one has to do is to review the issues of Collier's for the current month and answer the two or three questions which are printed in each issue, giving such opinion and such suggestions as will aid in improving the paper. Collier's aims in this way to secure the assistance of every one of its readers in making the paper more to their liking. Every reader, in fact, becomes one of the editors and has his voice in building the greatest illustrated journal of the age.

The first prize each month, awarded for the most helpful suggestion, is $50 in cash, with a second prize of $25 in cash, and eighteen other prizes of sets of books, ranging in value from $25 down to $5, making in all $225 of value given in prizes each month. There are, in addition, cumulative cash prizes, for those who win prizes in successive months, and a big cash prize of $1000 for the most valuable suggestions during 1903.

For the convenience of intending contestants who can not be promptly supplied by newspapers, all the copies of
